WILSON - ARASON

A lovely wedding was solemnized on Saturday, September 30, 1967 at 4:00 P.M. at the Westmount Presbyterian Church, Edmonton, when Carol Louise, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Wilson of Assiniboia, Sask., was united in marriage to Donald W. Arason, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Arason of Edmonton.

Reverend J. Bigelow performed the ceremony. Soloist Miss Vi Cumming sang WEDDING HYMN preceding the ceremony and the WEDDING PRAYER during the signing of the register.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, looked lovely in a floor length gown of white satin, the sleeves featured lace inserts. Her empire gown was complimented by a train flowing from the waist. Her four-tiered chapel veil of silk illusion was held in place by organza roses and lilly of the valley. She carried a bouquet of red sweetheart roses.

Miss Bonnie Wilson, sister of the bride, was the bridesmaid and wore a floor-length gown of teal blue and carried white carnations. Little Michelle Wilson, sister of the bride, was enchanting as the flower girl, dressed also in a dress of teal blue. She carried a basket of white mums and wore a headpiece of white flowers.

The groom was attended by Mr. Douglas Rutter of Fort MacMurray.

Guests were ushered into the church by Mr. Donald Ross, brother-in-law of the groom, from Ottawa Ontario, and Mr. David Williams, friend of the bride and groom.

Mother of the bride chose a blue ribbon lace assemble with pink accessories and wore a corsage of white carnations.

A dinner and reception was held at the Riviera Motor Hotel.

Mr. Donald E. Millar, master of ceremonies, proposed a toast to the bride, to which the groom admirably responded.

Mr. Ruben Arason, uncle of the groom, from International Falls, Minn. proposed the toast to the groom.

Many telegrams were read, among them one from Mr. and Mrs. Wilson of Moose Jaw, Sask., the bride's grandparents.

The young couple left for a two-weeks honeymoon traveling to Ottawa, Ontario and Minnesota. Out of town guests attending the wedding were: Mr. & Mrs. H. Hayes and family of Calgary; Mr. & Mrs. J. Crooker of Calgary; Mr. & Mrs. E. Crooker of Lloydminster; Mr. & Mrs. Don Ross and David of Ottawa; Mr. & Mrs. Sigurden Arason; Mr. & Mrs. Reuben Arason and Kathy Low of International Falls, Minnesota.

Cartwright - Markstroma Nuptials

Miss Judy Markstrom, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Markstrom of Edmonton, became the wife of Mr. Calvin Cartwright, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dutee Cartwright of Barrhead, on October 13.

The wedding took place at Norwood United Church with Reverend Stan Erret officiating.

The bride wore a full-length bell skirted gown of white satin with bodice detail in pearl applique. A shoulder length lace trimmed veil was held in place by a rhinestone tiara. A bouquet of artificial red roses with streamers emphasized the fullness of the gown.

Matron of Honor, Mrs. Karen Runcer, and bridesmaids Marie Markstrom and Wendy Cartwright were identically gowned in short, sleeveless, lace-trimmed empire cut dresses of turquoise peau-de-soie. Crowns of matching material draped with a circlet of net were worn. Bouquets of artificial yellow carnations completed the picture. Flower girl Terri Runcer was dressed in yellow.

Mr. Ron Runcer, Mr. Terry Kepke, and Mr. Jim Markstrom were best men. Ushers were Kurt Markstrom and Denis Pequen.

Mr. Sig Johnson was master of ceremonies at the reception held at the Saxony Motor Inn. Mr. Eric Pierre gave the toast to the bride and Mr. Floyd McKeever spoke on behalf of the groom.

For a honeymoon trip to Jasper the bride donned a green knit suit accented by black accessories and a corsage of yellow roses.

Ever since the Chinses made the world's first known paper two thousand years ago, paper and water had been considered inseparable. Arabs wrested the secrets of paper-making from the Chinese, Moors brought the craft to Europe, Scandinavia had its first paper mill by 1573, North America a century later, and paper-making grew into the world's fifth largest industry. But nothing over two millennia changed the basic formula: 100 partsof water to make one part of paper.

So there was reason for the touch of drama as Karl Kroyer, an ingenious Danish inventor-businessman, held up a piece of paper and proclaimed: "No water was used to make this."

Then newsmen summoned to Kroyer's Arhus laboratory headquarters were invited to examine the paper more closely. "You may soon see newsprint produced right in the print shop," Kroyer told them. He also displayed a wedding gown sewn of paper, soft as silk. "The material cost just $1.50," Kroyer said. White, brick-like blocks of paper were described as "featherweight, but strong enough for house-building." "This will be a billion-dollar thing," said the ebullient Kroyer.

A Revolutionary. Snow job? Some did voice skepticism. But this came from the man who floated a sunken freighter by pumping millions of tiny plastic bubbles into it, is paving roads around the world with glass* and has licensed plants in a score of countries to produce glucose to his special formula.

This new project just could become Karl Kroyer's grandest: to revolutionize the paper industry in pulp-importing countries, replacing water with air and electricity. So far almost all the world's paper has been produced in large river or lakeside plants with easy access to water. Kroyer plans small low-cost mills sufficiently independent of water to operate in a desert. Their heart would be a machine constructed by Finnish Inventor Heikki Olavi Hjelt aided by a team of Kroyer engineers.

Traditional paper mills use water to soften up the dry pulp, straighten fibers and distribute glue as the pulp is rolled into paper. Then even more work and money go into drying the paper — and in purifying waste water to reduce pollution. Said Kroyer: "Ironically, till now the lightest of products has needed the heaviest machinery.

Better than Paper. Kroyer's and Hjelt's machine, named Tasselt, grinds dry pulp into powder, then blows it and glue "like a blizzard" onto a moving steel band charged with static electricity. Caught in the electric field, fibers stand on end, then are flattened mechanically. The result is finished dry paper. The denser the "blizzard", the denser the fiber. The degree and manner of flattening decide thickness and character — from crepe to heavy bond. Kroyer calls it three-dimensional paper.

The potential in natural-fiber textiles is claimed to be even better. With fibers blown, glued and pressed into, e.g., a base of gauze, the Tasselt method eliminates spinning and weaving. Production would be 10 to 20 times faster, and cheaper. Cloth could come in any quality: thick as velvet or smooth as silk. More durable than other paper cloth, it would not necessarily be confined to wear-and-throw-away use. Furthermore, that $1.50 wedding gown did not look or feel like paper.

After investing $300,000 of his own puls a $7,000 government grant (with promise or more), Kroyer now reckons that his "dry" paper is out of the experimental stage. Some interests abroad reportedly went out of their way to discourage him at one stage, but the Danish Paper Mills Corp. cooperated all along. Now that the secret is out and all patents secured, Kroyer expects to be ready to deliver machinery to licensed plants by the end of the year.

Mainly for Wear. Some Scandinavian pulp-and-paper people warily point to the failure of no-water methods developed in the U.S. and the Soviet Union over the last decade. They admit that the Kroyer-Hjelt method appears different, but even so it does not do away with the need for water to make pulp. With most Scandinavian and North American paper coming from combined pulp-and-paper plants, investment in new "dry" mills may hold little immediate attraction so long as water remains a need for pulp production.

But Lars Nordman, head of Finland's Central Laboratory of Paper Research, thinks the Tasselt method may revolutionize paper-making in pulp-importing countries and regions scarce on water. Also the dry method would eliminate water pollution problems now barring use of more effective glues in traditional plants. But the biggest prospects, according to Nordman and others, probably are in paper textiles. Newsprint, say Canadian experts, can hardly be a significant application.

When Hjelt, a 62-year-old economist and diplomat, turned-businessman, made his first Tasselt machine in 1950, it was a typical chance invention by a man with no technical training. After a promising deal with a large British concern fell through 10 years ago, Hjelt moved to Copenhagen and, with dwindling hope, went on working on the machine in the basement of his suburban home. There Kroyer found him. No trained engineer himself, Kroyer, 52, is a believer in team work, built up a staff of experts to work on his own "chance" ideas, struck it are gone when an inventor could work in his basement, attic or rich on the thesis that "the days kitchen. Nowadays, he must know what other inventors do, go on from where they leave off, develop new ideas, better methods."

TWENTY - FIFTH ANNIVERSARY

Martha and Bill Kay marked twenty-five years of married life on September 16. They celebrated by hosting a buffet supper in their cabin at Vasa Park. Many friends came and enjoyed the delicious food and warm hospitality.

Everyone crossed the Road to Joan and Len Petersson's cabin for coffee, sandwiches, and a lovely anniversary cake brought by Bert and Vi Watson. An impromptu dance followed with music supplied by Bill and his tape recorder, and later by the violin and accordion of Bert and Randy Watson. It was a lovely evening and Bill and Martha were wished at least another twenty-five years together.

USSR has admitted, as stated in a Norwegian note of Aug. 15, that a Soviet submarine chaser entered Norwegian territorial waters in the Varangerfjord on Aug. 13. A Soviet note of Sept. 5, regretting the transgression, said it was caused by a fault in the vessel's power plant.

SONS OF NORWAY INITIATION

Solghyt Lodge No. 143 initiated 8 members at the meeting of October 14. They are Linda Johnson, Iva Hanson, Robert Hanson, Garunn Morton, Dorien Haugan and Les Larson. Drill team members Betty McKevitt and Gladys Clark acted as Marshall and Assistant Marshall in the initiation ceremonies. The welcoming song Vi er et Folk was sung — pas word was given and the new members were welcomed into the fraternal circle. The drill team, under the direction of Clara Lineham, put on a drill display with competition to music from the wedding party in the next room.

Several members stayed for an enjoyable evening of dancing which followed the meeting.

WARM TRIBUTES TO 125-YEAR OLD NORWEGIAN MISSION SOCIETY

The Norwegian Mission Society, which has some 300 active missionaries in Africa and Asia, recently observed its 125th anniversary with celebrations in Stavanger and Oslo. The Norwegian Santal Mission, whose 80 missionaries work mainly in India, will mark its 100th anniversary in Oslo later this month. On the eve of the first jubilee, a 3 1/2-hour door-to-door collection raised about 10 million kroner for the work of the two mission societies. While some 70,000 youths solicited donations, the nation-wide campaign, in preparation for 9 months, was plugged in special radio and TV programs.

ICELANDIC NOTES

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Edgar of Lyleton, Man, visited at the home of Gunnar and Shirley Thorvaldson for a stop-over while enroute to a holiday in Vancouver, B.C. Over the holiday Thanksgiving weekend, the Thorvaldson family motored to Kindersley, Sask to visit friends.

The sympathy of their many friends is offered to Joe and Mike word of the death of their brother Egill Johnson Stefanson of Los Angeles, California at the age of 80 years. He leaves to mourn his loss an only daughter, Lillian, Mrs. Clarke Murkar of Toronto; one granddaughter, Linda, Mrs. Robert Tudhope, Kingston, Ont., and four brothers, John of Betel, Gimli; Sam of Vancouver; and Joe and Mike of Edmonton.

Egill served with the Winnipeg Grenadiers in the first world war. He was gassed and lost the sight of one eye at Aras during the battle for Vimy Ridge. He received his discharge in 1919 with the rank of Sergeant. His wife, the former Florita Jochumson (Jackson) predeceased him several years ago.

Birthday Congratulations and best wishes go out to Mrs. Margaret Cameron, on November 11, and Mr. Art Arnfinnson on Nov. 27th. Good health be yours!

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Herst of Hay River have moved into their new home in the new town, created because of the disastrous flood there. We wish them much happiness after so much distress, and no further problems from Mother Nature's calamities.

Mrs. Sadie Lee returned by Air-Canada to her home at Qualicum Beach, B.C. the Wyldegren Rest Home. Prior to her departure, a family gathering at the home of Henry and Lillian Sumarladason honored her as the senior member. Those present included Mrs. Josie Janssen, of Red Deer, Mr. and

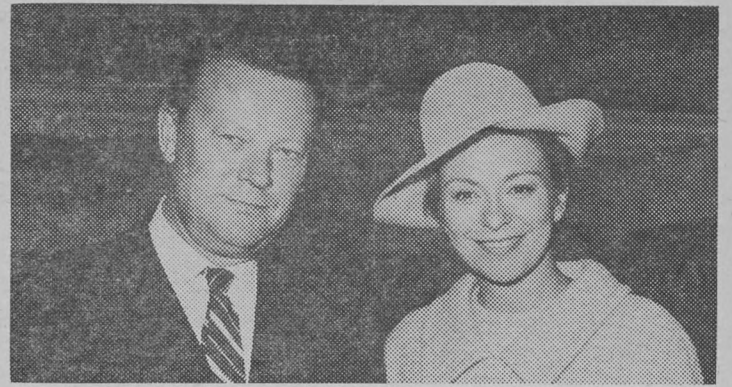

Mrs. Vivtor Janssen, and family, Larry, Lori Lynn and Kathy of Edmonton; Mr. and Mrs. Wm E. Janssen and wee son, Billy, of Penhold; Mr. Don Wilkes (of Fairview but presently attending University; and Mrs. Augustus Rodger; Mr. sDlouglass Janssen and his fiancée, Miss Shirley Tod, Nurse-in-training.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Garnett, of Grant Road, Victoria have sent warmest greetings to all their friends and acquaintances in their former home in Edmonton. Although living in the desirable climate of B.C. they find their thoughts returning with fond recollections, and wish correspondence from former friends.

The Women's Committee under Mrs. Thora Orr are accelerating their efforts to make the Nov. 25th Bazaar an outstanding success. They promise to have original attractive yet inexpensive articles for your viewing and purchase. All they need is a good turnout of friends to share the good-fellowship usually engendered by such an occasion. Have you memorized the date? November 25, the time — 2 to 5:30 p.m. and the place — Masonic Temple. Will we be seeing you there?

The Hallowe'en Dance and Masquerade on October 28th in the Scandinavian Centre was well organized and planned by Pres. Al Arnason and his willing executive. More details will be given in the next issue.

A happy crowd gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Arason to welcome Mrs. Tom Yelic the former Hulda Bjarnason, on their return from a wedding trip. The evening was planned as a miscellaneous shower, and surprise. We offer good wishes to the young couple as they set up a home in Edmonton, where Tow is employed by the City Transit System.

Denmark's Prime Minister Jens Otto Krag visited Canada briefly in connection with his last visit to Washington. He was accompanied by his attractive actress-wife Helle Virkner-Krag who is famous as a both stage and movie star. After having looked at EXPO for a day, they flew back to Copenhagen with the regular Scandinavian Airlines DC-8 jet service from Montreal.

To all the members of the Scandinavian Centre, who took part in 1967 flights, we wish them welcome home and hope they had a very enjoyable time in Europe.

DANIA DOINGS

Miss Kirsten Madsen and her fiancé went to Denmark via Wardair to be married in "Kongens Lyngby". Congratulations. We hope to see you again in the near future.

We are very pleased to hear that Mr. Jens Arildsen is getting along fine in the Ponoka Hospital after a serious accident, when he was pinned under an overturned tractor. Hope to see you out and back to the farm soon, Jens.

Mr. Aage Mortensen is back in General Hospital. We all hope you will soon be out and well again. We all miss you in DANIA.

"BIKUBEN'S" next meeting will be held the second Monday in the month November 13th at 8:00 p.m. 10029 85 Avenue.

Keep this date in mind November 18th a Saturday night for a real jolly time as DANIA will hold their November Dance in form of a "TYROLER NIGHT". We are told that we will have the pleasure of seeing a lot of the Danish Canadian Club in Calgary members, as they would like to come here, to meet our members and see how we enjoy ourselves up here, so please show them a good time. We would appreciate seeing some Scandinavians from our other clubs; so what about keeping this date open for the Danish Society Dance. There will be spot dances and fun for all. Our Membership Draw will be $10.00. See the Ad on the back page. This is something new again, so please come as many of you as can.

We would like to have your opinion of what you think about getting the "AARHUS GARDEN" over again next summer? Did you hear them play this year?

Come to our TURKEY BINGO on November 8th beginning at 8.00 p.m. in the Nordic Room at the Scandinavian Centre, come and enjoy playing and maybe you will be lucky enough to bring home your turkey or something else, just as good.

Have you taken notice of the Charter Flight to Copenhagen next summer? If not — look at the big Ad in this paper and notice the price. Don't you feel like taking such a trip? Then don't wait too long to send in your deposit, as people are getting busy now and before you know it, you will be too late and that would be sad, if you already had been looking for ward to take a trip. So hurry to contact Mrs. Vera Nielsen about the flights to Copenhagen. Thank you for Donation to the Paper: G.H. Lindall, Mrs. Delia Nielsen, E. M. Olsson, Mrs. Hedvig Erickson, Mrs. B. Christianson, Vancouver, B.C., William Hansen, Provoost, Alberta.

DANIA GYMNASTIC CLUB

When Dania Gymnastic Club wound up its season last spring with a display in the Oliver School, it was with an appeal to members to become more active in the executive committee. Our President for the last several years felt she could no longer remain as president; our vice-president resigned, as did our Sec-Treasurer. Further we were faced with finding new instructors for the girls and ladies, as she has taught the ladies for the past 8 years so she should certainly be entitled to a rest and thank you, Lise.

At the annual general meeting Sept. 11th in the Scandinavian Centre the following were elected to the executive committee: Mr. Chester Grove, Sec-Treasurer, Mr. Otto Henriksen, Vice-Pres., Mrs. Ann Hamilton, Asst. Sec-Treasurer, Mr. Helge Welling, Publicity, Mrs. Iversen, Mr. Bob Sorneson and Mr. Arne Welling, members at large.

Gymnastics started September 25 and 27 with the following instructors: Ann Hamilton, Ladies; Helge Welling, Girls; Bob Sorenson, Men; Otto Henriksen, Boys. Due to a very poor attendance (2) (last years figure was 25) we were forced to cancel the class for the ladies. We altered the other classes to the following: every Monday at 7:00 p.m.: Girls (all ages) and boys (4-12), every Wednesday at 7:00 p.m. Boys and Men. The instructor on Monday nights is Helge Welling; the instructor on Wednesday nights is Otto Henriksen.

At the last count we had 6 girls, 4 men and 19 boys taking part. We would certainly enjoy seeing more people turn out. P.S. E. Flensted Jensen is presently touring North America with a group of 15 women and 15 men; if you would like to see that fine group of gymnasts in Edmonton please don't just sit there, do something about it, make your wish known to your Club.

NEWS FROM THE DANISH CHURCH

Reformation Service This year it is 450 years since Martin Luther in Wittenberg, Germany began the Lutheran Reformation by sticking 95 sentences about the Catholic teaching of the indulgence or the way of God's forgiveness on the door to the chapel of the castle. He did it on All Saints' Day, October 31, 1517. On All Saints' Day, Sunday Nov. 5 there will be held Reformation services in all churches in Denmark and we will also do it the same day in the Danish Church here in Edmonton. So remember Sunday, November 5, 11:0 a.m.

Bazaar The Ladies Aid Fall Bazaar will be held Friday, November 17 at 8 p.m. in the church basement. Tickets may be bought from Mrs. Arnskov, Phone 439-8392, other members of the Ladies Aid or from Paster Filtenborg. The Ladies' Aid will have many fine prizes at the bazaar; there will be things from Denmark; small white paper stars for the Christmas tree, Christmas-bucks of straw and much more. So come and get your Christmas gifts that night. Naturally coffee will be served.

Annual Meeting The annual meeting of the congregation will be held Friday, November 24th at 8 p.m. in the Church, New members to the board are to be elected and a bill for changing of some of the laws will be discussed. The new law can first be effective after the annual meeting in 1968. Let us this night see that the church has more than 50 members.

A Letter of Appreciation Dear Mrs. Vera Nielsen and The Scandinavian Centre:

On behalf of my mother, Mrs. H. Zakrisen, and myself, I wish to express sincere thanks and appreciation for the kind attention and services shown in preparation for the wonderful Charter Flight No. 22 to Copenhagen on August 7th. Also, special "thanks" to Mrs. Lodge, she also was a pleasure to speak with.

Wardair of Canada, are to be complimented for their excellent services also. We felt that we were in strong and capable hands all the way, the stewardesses were friendly, hospitable, kind and conscientious. We truly enjoyed every step of the way. Many, many thanks again for making such a trip possible — our association with you and the Scandinavian Centre has been extremely pleasant.

Danish Norwegian Cities Offer Inexpensive Vacation

For most people, an European vacation is a once-in-a-lifetime affair with as much sightseeing, as possible crammed into two or three weeks.

London, Paris and Vienna are always high on the list of preferred destinations, but a journey to the Scandinavian cities of Copenhagen and Oslo will prove to be just as rewarding and pleasurable an experience, and an expensive one at that.

Copenhagen, with its one and three quarters of a million people, is as cosmopolitan as any other major European city, with many fine hotels and pension houses. Rates vary from as little as $6.00 a night for a single room in a pension to $40 a night for double accommodation in a luxury hotel.

Danish cuisine is nothing short of marvelous for the gourmet and, for the less adventurous, all restaurants serve the more familiar North American specialties.

Dozens of different types of marinated herring and prepared eel, and many varieties of fresh fish are headliners on all menus.

Liquor and cigarettes are more expensive than in Canada but for those who can't do without, you can always carry some along from duty free shops on your way over.

Entertainment is never a problem in this 800-year-old city with many lounges, theatres, restaurant, cafes and, most famous of all, Tivoli Gardens.

To really appreciate Tivoli requires at least two visits; one during the afternoon and again at night when the excitement really begins.

The cost of admission until 2:00 p.m. is only one kroner (about 16 cents) for adults and one and one-half kroner (about 24 cents) from 2:00 p.m. until the midnight closing time.

Guided tours are an expensive quick and easy way to get to see Copenhagen in a short time.

A city tour, which costs about $2.50 and lasts about two hours, takes visitors in a comfortable coach with trilingual guides, to such world-famous spots as the site of the Little Mermaid of Copenhagen in the harbour. You're allowed plenty of time to take photographs and you may even stand close enough to the mermaid to allow your wife to take a photo of you with your arm around this popular landmark.

After a couple of days in Copenhagen, you may want to have a look at Oslo and the best way of getting there is by boat. A United Steamship Company Ltd. boat leaves Copenhagen Harbour each day at 4:00 p.m. arriving in the Norwegian capital at 7:30 a.m. the next morning and the $18 fare per person for first class accommodation is much less than the combined costs of a hotel room plus air fare the next day.

Everything you buy on the boat is tax-free including liquor and cigarettes and the food in the fine dining room and cafeteria, is excellent. A platter of assorted pickled herring or other canapes, an entree of steak, roast beef, veal or fresh salmon steaks with a bottle of good French or German wine and dessert may cost about $5.00 or $6.00 for two people. You can also purchase a bottle of Mumm's champagne for $20.00!

Oslo has many fine hotels with very reasonable rates and the same fine foods, with slight variation in preparation, as in Copenhagen.

In Oslo, as well as in Copenhagen, guided tours are the best way to see the city for visitors on financial and time budgets. Here are several good ones but the three-hour "Oslo Camera Tour" is particularly rewarding for amateur photographers.

At the Kon-Tiki Museum, one of three stops on the tour, visitors will see the original balsa wood raft which carried Thor Heyerdahl and five companions across the Pacific Ocean from Peru to Polynesia in 1947. The museum also contains a collection of various craft used by natives of Polynesia and Easter Islands in the South Pacific.

VASA

Henry and Linnea Lodge spent three days in Winnemucca and Reno, Nevada prior to motoring to Vancouver, B.C. to attend the wedding of Linnea's brother George Wicklund. They also visited with her sister Alma, from San Francisco, California and Al Seabrook, former Edmonton Wildcat, who is attending Simon Fraser University. The Lodges were guests of Douglas and Zofia Morris while in Vancouver.

Brian Johnson has returned from a months vacation in Eastern Canada. He spent time in Kingston, Toronto and Montreal with its Expo 67. Brian is presently teaching in the Edmonton Public School system.

Janice Wildeman is a house guest at the home of Mr. & Mrs. I. E. Johnson. Janice hails from Winnipeg and is Evelyn's niece.

Now that Don Johnson has returned from Picture Butte and Milk River with his limit of pheasants we would like to find the key to the freezer.

DANIA DOINGS

My sincere thanks to those who appeared in National Costumes at the half-time show at Clarke Stadium during the summer. Also thanks to "BIKUBEN" for letting us borrow the costumes.

Danish Director for the Cultural Committee.
Claus Jacobsen.

Mr. Fred Nonnecke is an old timer in Edmonton and well known for his Danish Pastry Shop, he operated for many years on Whyte Avenue, he retired a few years ago. On October 20th he will celebrate his 70 birthday, and we hope he had a very good day, we all wish him the very best for years to come. Keep your happy smile, it is always a pleasure to meet you.

Mr. Walter Rostof, Minister of Industries of the Government of Norway spent about a week in Canada and visited at the same time EXPO '67. Our photographer caught the tall, pipe-smoking Norwegian Cabinet member at the Montreal International Airport just before he embarked the Scandinavian Airlines DC-8 jet flight to Copenhagen and that way back to Oslo.
